Introduction

Handicap Sleepers, you know the sort. Those types that are slipping down the ratings, past their highest winning mark/official rating. The sort that people are ignoring because they think they are out of form. Yeah them, that's a Handicap Sleeper and I keep track of a vast quantity of them, waiting for them to meet certain criteria before putting the cash down and hopefully collecting at a tasty price.

But what makes a Handicap Sleeper?

Essentially I'm looking for a horse who's current OR (Official Rating) is LOWER than their highest ever win OR, ideally they will also be below or at least near their last winning OR. Added to their OR mark I also need to be able to establish strong trends and preferences from their winning AND losing past form, or in other words I like to be able to attribute Prime Conditions to the horse in question, conditions I'll be sitting and waiting for them to appear under so that myself (and full NTF Members) can get the money down and look to pull in profit.

For those of you that have followed me for some time this won't be a completely new concept to you. I've produced many similar free guides like this over the past ten or so years, highlighted similar types of horses to keep an eye on and to profit from. I've also ramped this side of my analysis up a few notches during the 2021 NTF Summer Members Service, examples of such you can see HERE.

Handicap Sleepers are horses I considered to be 'well-handicapped' AND also horses where I could pinpoint strong trend patterns to their winning performances. I regularly highlight these types for full NTF Members, along with the conditions they are proven to act best under, continually scanning the entries and my mountain of horse notes, looking for the perfect time to get the money down.

This FREE Handicap Sleepers guide works along the same lines and same principles.

The runners in this guide...

All horses on the list are here because they are perceived to be well handicapped by myself on old form (and official figures, of course) and I have been able to identify strong race conditions that they excel under. They are taken from a much larger set of personal notes that I constantly update, refine and tweak, making sure I'm as ahead of the game as I possibly can be. The horses in this particular guide are also ones I've noted as 'coming into form' or 'runner better than the bare form suggests' and also have previous strong form in the latter part of the season/year.

This isn't a get rich quick scheme...

Again if you have been following me for any length of time you know that's not what I'm about. I put in the hard work and study to get the results. My 'Handicap Sleepers' method is a method I personally use to source large priced winners. Not all the time of course, not all of them will be as 'under the radar' each time they hit the track as I would like them to be, but they offer plenty enough value plenty enough times to make it a worthwhile method to add to my overall portfolio. You do sometimes have to endure losing streaks with the method but this has to be expected. You are often dealing with runners at the lower end of the market (larger odds) and you honestly can't expect them to win time after time, day in day out.

How do you profit from Handicap Sleepers?

Luckily for you I've done most of the hard work! I've sourced the horses and laid out their Prime Conditions for you. All you need to do is keep an eye out for them running.

With this method you need take the highlights with the close calls, the big winners with the not even on the radar runs, hopefully the close calls return some each-way nuggets allowing you a profit from your efforts, but you have to accept that you may have to wait a few runs to profit from a handicap sleeper, again this isn't a get rich quick scheme.

What to do now...

Read the guide, familiarise yourself with the runners and their traits. If you use an alerts tool then enter them in there with my notes attached.

As is always the case with an NTF guide it is entirely up to yourself how you wish to utilise the information and how you add it to your own punting armoury. I would, however, suggest having some sort of each-way cover for the larger priced runners, whether that is with the traditional bookies or indeed on the exchanges. The strike-rates for this sort of method will be low-ish but the returns more than make up for it.

*Note. Sometimes these runners will win out with ideal conditions, without our money down. It happens; we deal with it and move on.

**Note. It's not always a case of waiting for ALL conditions to be ticked for a horse, you can sometimes be waiting forever for that to happen. If for example 4 of the 5 conditions are ticked it's a case of making a judgement call based on price and how important the missing angle is in conjunction with that days race.

Where to get more Handicap Sleepers...

Naturally, if you have the time, you can source your own. It's a time consuming process, no doubt about that, but it IS a worthwhile task and it WILL point you towards plenty of winners that the wider betting public are ignoring.

Alternatively you can hook up to the full NTF members service where I will be highlighting Multiple Handicap Sleepers/Prime Condition horses each and every week.

The current service -the NTF Summer Service 2021 – is in its final weeks, but if you want a taster of the NTF membership there is a special sign-up offer available HERE.

Doors to the 2021/2022 NTF National Hunt service will be opening next month (October 2021) and season ticket offers will be available from the middle of October. If you are on the FREE NTF Mailing list then you will be kept informed via email when things kick off for the jumping game. If you are not on the FREE NTF Mailing list then head to the following page and enter your best email so I can stay in touch...

>>>Join the FREE NTF Mailing List

...I'll also have my usual high quality free guides to get you all fired up for the forthcoming jumping action, one of which will be a set of National Hunt Handicap Sleepers for your notebooks...

It's not easy finding well handicapped horses that are also showing the tell-tale signs of coming into form and getting ready to strike. There are so many horses in training it's like picking your way through a thoroughbred handicap minefield! But that's where I come in...

I find the horses for YOU. Then all we need to do is wait for the correct conditions and get the money down!

Cheers and best of punting luck
